Students who:

- a) completed all types of work provided for in the discipline curriculum;
  - b) were present at all lectures and practical classes;
  - c) completed all missed classes on time;
  - d) scored the minimum number of points for the discipline (72);
  - e) passed "Step-1" with at least 80% offline and 90% online
- are allowed to the final exam.

The exam is held according to the schedule at the end of the third semester. The Human Anatomy exam is conducted by computer testing (80 questions for 80 minutes). The exam is credited to the student if he scored at least 48 out of 80 points. A student who scores less than 48 points receives 0 points for the exam. Incentive points are added to the grade on the discipline for the performance of the individual research project (12 points for representation of the student science work, 5 points for the speech at the conference, 4 points for the poster report at the conference, and 3 points for the abstracts). The total of points in the discipline cannot be more than 200.

In case of an unsatisfactory result, the student can retake the exam twice. The first re-examination is accepted by the teacher, who is appointed by the head of the department, and the second one is accepted by the commission, which is appointed by the dean's office. Re-examination takes place by a special schedule approved by the dean's office. Students who skipped the exam without a good reason are those who received an unsatisfactory grade. Student refusal to perform the exam's task is certified as an unsatisfactory result. The student has the right to ask for an explanation of the received assessment

The results of the exam assessment are subject to appeal. A student must lodge an appeal to the director on the day of certification or after announcing the results, but no later than the next working day. The appeal commission is established by the director's order. The appeal commission's decision may change the grade in case of violations revealed during the attestation.

If a teacher reveals violations of academic integrity by students during the exam, the former has the right not to accept the exam's result and set a date for its retaking.
